Human trafficking is a major public health problem, both domestically and internationally. Health care providers are often the only professionals to interact with trafficking victims who are still in captivity. The expert assessment and interview skills of providers contribute to their readiness to identify victims of trafficking. ncbi.nlm.nih.gov

Join us on Tuesday, January 17, 2017 as we listen to Dr. Anthony Wall and Dr. Allison Richard outline through case studies and clinical practice tools to help assess and identify this patient population.

This is a non-sponsored educational presentation but a dinner menu is available.
